

policies & practices survey

Australia Domestic Mobility

Mercer is delighted to announce the launch of the 2020 edition of the Australia Domestic Mobility Survey.

Survey schedule:

Collection: July

Results: Q4 2020

With domestic relocations increasingly in high demand, the survey aims to provide insights, trends and benchmark data to help organisations review current policies and practices to align to their business needs.

This survey focuses on four main assignment types (short-term, long-term, permanent one-way and fly-in fly-out) and cover the following:

- Housing, settling in, miscellaneous relocation allowances
- LAFHA (Living Away From Home Allowances)
- Home Sale and Purchase
- Policy exceptions and assignment management
- Allowances for remote locations
- COVID-19 pandemic impact on domestic policy strategies
- And much more!

All participants will receive a complimentary Executive Report with additional full-survey report discounts! Participants will also be invited to join the post-survey release events. It aims to help you further understand the survey results and provide you with greater insights.

Start the survey!

Need more information?

To learn more about this survey and other mobility specific surveys, please contact our specialist team at GlobalMobilityPacific@mercer.com or visit our website.

welcome to brighter

